- FCL Full Container Load - The shipper is responsible for loading, securing, and unloading the goods in the container. The carrier is responsible for the safe transport of the container. This is the most common and secure method of shipping.
- LCL Less than Container Load - The shipper's goods are consolidated with other cargo from different shippers in a single container. This is more cost-effective for smaller volumes but involves more handling and potential risk of damage or loss.
